On the dead man's forehead were two red spots. They were about two inches and a quarter apart. They seemed to be sunken in and about their edges they appeared as if they had been burned.

RYERROWS BURNED AWAY. The rest of the forehead was discolored. The eyebrows were mostly burned away. The ends of some of the hair showed the sizzled appearance produced by heat.

The cyclids were burned and the cyclashes singed and partially destroyed, although not so much gone as were the cycbrows.

The inner rim of each nostril showed distinctly that it had been burned. About the base of the ears were burn scars.

THE GREATEST DISFIGUREMENT.
But the awful disfigurement was the face.

On each side of it the skin hung loose. It was shrivelled up. The fiesh behind was yellow and red. It looked like red beef that had been placed on white-hot iron. There seemed a lack of blood.

Both sides of the face were not alike. The burn on the left side was the larger. It covered a space of two and a balf toches by an inch and a half. The scar on right side was a trifle smaller.

The programme was far from being a brilliant one, and the weather was just as bad as it could possibly be. All day long the water dripped from the leaden-hued clouds, and people wouldn't have felt so very bad if that tantalizing streak of clear sky in the West would have disappeared beyond the horizon instead

Jerome Park is the most picturesque and beautiful of all the race courses. Its queer Purse $500; selling allowances; five fur-saddle-bag track was a novelty and a change ongs. - Bettiag to racegoers, and there are any number of beautiful landscape scenes in the surroundings. For some reason, though, racing doesn't seem to be a success at Jerome. Perhaps energette Secretary "Krik" will be able by compiling brilliant programmes to make the meeting a successful one, but by the looks of to-day's card it will be a hard task.

Finally the police concluded that some one in that hand would get hurt if the thing was kept up and they stopped the music. They gave as their re-son the fact that beer was being soid on the premises and that a concert license was necessary before the band could be allowed to rilay. This explanation is for the innocent. The real reason is given above. Philip Dwver suggests the following:
"Handicap Tenny at 128 pounds; Longstreet, 124 pounds; Riley and Bon, 132

Eon's performance at Jarome yesterday was one of the best ever seen at that track. The mile and a quarter was run in 2.114 and the first mile in 1.444. Considering the condition of the track and the in-and-out curves, the performance was a grand one.

Eon was galloping making the great Riley look like a selling-plater in the stretch. In heavy going, it is doubtful if there is known equal in the country to-day.

Bergen took great chances with Capt. Sam Brown's coll Arnold yesterday. Opposite the stand he was behind Little Sandy and Cassanova, but with just the slightest open-ing between them. Into this he pushed and succeeded in getting through in time to win easily. Bergen takes more chances than any other jocksy, and this is one reason why he is nomular.

Linithgow, a 20 to 1 chance, defeated Rin-fax and the other Western crack-s-jacks yesterday at Chicago very casily.

It is a singular coincidence that Littledeld, Hamilton and Bergen each won two races in succession yesterday.
